An Evening with Anna Porter

May 23rd 2009, 8 pm

University of Ottawa, Senate Room, Tabaret Hall 083 (75 Laurier East)

This event is open to the public

Anna Porter will talk about her recent visits to her birthplace, Hungary, in relation to her published work, including the award-winning Kasztner's Train (Douglas and McIntyre 2007) and The Storyteller (Doubleday 2000, re-issued by Douglas and McIntyre in 2006), as well as work in progress. The event is part of the program of the annual conference of the Hungarian Studies Association of Canada which is taking place at the Congress of Humanities and Social Sciences, May 23-24 at Carleton University. For information about the conference, see:
